The Thrill

There is a thrill of spirit which love imparts,
When turn our thoughts to Kenyon's glory;
Both old and young with single tongue
Unite to sing our Alma Mater's story.
Then let our song ascend in unison!
Our loyal hearts avow no other.
It unifies, it never dies,
The love of Kenyon, our mother.

Thy beauty strikes a chord of harmony,
And broods us to a high endeavor;
Thy glorious name, thy spotless fame,
We'll cherish in our hearts forever.
Then let our song ascend in unison!
Our loyal hearts avow no other.
It unifies, it never dies,
The love of Kenyon, our mother.

THE REVEILLE-1926

Senior Sanity

noblesse oblige

Our-ah-position, you know—. Of course we run the College; at least we give the impression that we do. The Faculty reposes boundless confidence in us, for in whom else could they confide? We're the Seniors, you see. Not through any effort of our own—oh, my no—but we entered four years ago. So we're developed. If we have lost anything in mental alertness—but it would be unseemly for underclassmen to attempt investigation—we have gained in sedateness. Some people seem to think we affect this taciturn, dignified, sapience of ours, but such is far from the truth. To be frank, we are frightened into it; the responsibilities on our shoulders, and the ever-present possibility that perhaps our stay in Gambier will be a protracted one pall upon us. We have lost our juvenile bloom, and to distract our minds from such unpleasant thoughts turn to the perusal of books of high sounding and rather obscure titles. Besides—ah—the thing to do—.

Senior Class Song

Come classmates, sing a song to bind,
The ties between our hearts entwined,
For Kenyon's sons renew in song
Their bonds of friendship tried and strong.
Whate'er betide, though time divide
These friends, soon scattered far and wide,
The bonds will ever stronger be
That draw us, Kenyon, back to thee.

When sunrise glory tints the Hill
Where Kenyon stands, the joy and thrill
Of life and sunshine, friends and sky
Awake; and Kenyon hearts beat high.
Oh heart of youth, courageous truth
Is ours, and in the name of truth
March, friend, we'll honor as we go
The Hill whence love and honor flow.

Chorus:

Then classmates, raise our song,
Old Kenyon's fame prolong.
Through all her days, in Kenyon's praise
Let voice, like heart, be strong;
Long may her fame survive,
Her name be kept alive,
Upheld, revered, and honored by
The class of '25.

THE REVEILLE-1926

Junior Jollity

jeu d'esprit

Twenty-six, twenty-six—why, I believe I do remember something about twenty-six. Juniors they were at the time, and a bit, shall I say, retiring? Not that they confined themselves perpetually to the dark dens of Old Kenyon—O, my no—nor yet that they could be seen at all hours of the day puttering in the dim recesses of Ascension Hall! No, to give credence to that would be to delude yourself with a very base impression; twenty-six, far from being a class of hermits, simply was wise enough to know its own limitations.

And, for that reason perhaps, the Junior class will always enjoy a rather enviable position on the college campus. A victim neither of the affected sophistication of the Seniors nor of the unleavened light-heartedness of the Sophomores, and yet so constituted as to be able to mingle inconspicuously with either, it of all classes best typifies college life. From its intermediate point of vantage the Junior class sees all, hears all, comprehends all, and is shocked at nothing!

Junior Class Song

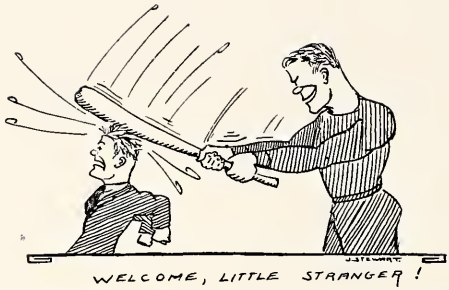
Old Kenyon stands in grandeur,
Throughout the ages still,
Her sons all sing her praises
Upon this ancient Hill.
And when we dream of glory,
On thee our hopes we fix—
Old Kenyon, and the dear old class:
The class of '26.

Happy are our college days,
Where lifelong friends are made,
Though time may dim our mem'ries
Our love can never fade.
For when we dream of glory,
On thee our hopes we fix—
Old Kenyon, and the dear old class:
The class of '26.



WELCOME, LITTLE STRANGER!

Sophomores

Sophomore Self-Sufficiency

sans sens

Considering what we had to beg . . . . but here, here, this isn't what we meant to say. We have little reason to be dissatisfied with our first two years at Kenyon—in fact, as underclassmen we think we have done rather well. Now, please don't misunderstand us; nothing is farther from our minds than vanity, but still, if we wanted to talk, we would have something to talk about. 1927 is in almost everything on the campus with both feet, and is doing some kicking.

Why, some few of our number even lay claims, rather appallingly justifiable too, to intellectual brilliance. Of course, we sympathize with them for they are in a unique position, quite unfamiliar to us laymen of the arts.

Our real college life has only just begun, and we are entering into it with the zeal that animates bald men to scratch their heads. Our responsibilities are not as yet manifold—truth compels us to admit that we do not even enjoy freedom of speech in our government; but this is probably for the best, for it would hardly be a wise thing permanently to let the Sophomores dominate the College.

The one task the upperclassmen have vouchsafed us has been well accomplished (this we know from the fashion of big dentist bills among the freshmen as a result of teeth chattering a little faster than normal), and we thrill for new worlds to conquer. Up! Up to the zenith, 1927!

THE CANE RUSH!

Freshmen

Freshman Fatuity

faux pas

We have been told in acrimonious invective accompanied by occasional coercive demonstration that freshmen should be seen and not heard. Ignoring the fact that to us the former seems almost as bad as the latter, we beg leave to open our lips in apologetic lamentation and protest.

We can't help being raw material. No one could possibly harp on our shortcomings too much; they are self-evident. Our faults stick out like a sore thumb, putting us in the background in everything we undertake. To quote Shakespeare, we are enjoying "the gentle sleep that knits up the ravelled sleeve of care"; but we sincerely hope we shall awaken in time, shrouded in a kind of sacred light which will bring out our new knickers to perfection. Our uncovered heads will appear illuminated as by a halo, for we shall then be of that noble order of Sophomores, the carefully care-free class.

The Kenyon Assembly

The Assembly is the organized manifestation of student government at Kenyon. Over its floor every matriculated student of the college has the right to express himself on matters confronting the student body—or at least to signify by his vote his acquiescence in or rejection of the opinions of others.

Self-government is the most valuable heritage of every Kenyon student, and to preserve and build up the beauty and strength of this institution he must take an interested and cooperative participation in it. Let us hand down to our successors a true realization of what self-government is.

Mr. Theodore C. Diller has held the Presidency of the Assembly for the past year, the highest office a student can attain during his college life, and has served his fellow students well in that capacity. The Reveille compliments Mr. Diller in the admirable way in which he has fulfilled the numerous and arduous responsibilities his office has imposed upon him.

Mr. W. Herbert Rusk, the Vice-president of the Assembly, has had little opportunity to undertake the duties of his office on account of the inevitable presence and punctuality of President Diller.

Mr. Stanley M. Fullwood has proved himself quite competent as Secretary of the Assembly, and deserves commendation for his clerical efficiency.

The Senior Council

The Senior Council combines the functions of the old Dormitory, Honor and Commons Committees—in other words, it runs the College where the Faculty is not concerned.

Lambda Chapter
of
Delta Kappa Epsilon

Delta Kappa Epsilon was the first Greek letter fraternity to be located at Kenyon, preceding Alpha Delta Phi by six years. Founded in 1852, Lambda Chapter was maintained for the first four years of its existence in sub-rosa fashion. Meetings were held in the utmost secrecy, and in various places, and it was only upon the circumstances attendant to the graduation of the class of '56 and the subsequent public wearing of badges that the faculty and unwitting members of the student body learned that such a thing as a fraternity existed at Kenyon. Immediately there was a loud protest, and the only condition under which the President would permit the society to remain in college was that a member of the faculty should attend the meetings of the fraternity. It so happened that one of the faculty members was a Deke from Bowdoin—a fact unknown to the President—and the condition was thus happily met.

During both the Civil and Spanish-American wars the Chapter all but disintegrated, at one time being reduced to a single man, but it perdured, and of late years has been steadily increasing in strength, with only the ordinary ups and downs of all fraternities.

Lambda Chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon enjoys the honor of having built the first fraternity lodge in the United States. At the Kenyon Centennial in 1924 the Chapter had a bronze tablet erected on the site of the log cabin in the woods. On that occasion, James N. Gamble of the class of '56, one of the first members of the Chapter and the Senior Alumnus of Kenyon College, was present.

The fraternity has the following active chapters:

Kenyon Chapter
of
Alpha Delta Phi

The Kenyon Chapter of Alpha Delta Phi was established in 1858 by Henry W. Chipman, William D. Doty, Francis E. Mann, Albert B. Payne, Timothy H. Rearden, Robert C. Smith, and Matthew Trimble. Of the founders Mr. Hancock and Mr. Trimble are still living, Mr. Trimble holding the enviable record of having attended more Commencements than any other alumnus of the College.

In 1859 the necessity of having a permanent meeting place was realized and plans were soon made to build a lodge. This lodge was completed in the early part of 1860, and has been in continuous use by the Chapter up to the present. Since the destruction of the original Delta Kappa Epsilon lodge, it has been the oldest Greek letter fraternity lodge in the country.

The fraternity has the following chapters:

Hamilton—Hamilton
Miami—Miami
Urban—N. Y. C. University
Columbia—Columbia

Iota Chapter
of
Psi Upsilon

Iota of Psi Upsilon was established at Kenyon in 1860. The local founders were Robert McNeilly, Mathew M. Gilbert, Erasmus O. Simpson, Thomas W. Smith, Henry L. Curtis, William H. D. Grannis, Charles F. Paine, Oliver Hazard Perry, Morton E. Brasee, Charles E. Boerstler, and William W. Farr.

At the time of its installation the Iota was the most western of the then existing chapters of Psi Upsilon. The original lodge erected in 1860 still stands at some distance behind Bexley Hall, although the lodge now in use adjoins the house presented to the chapter in 1920 by the alumni. In its sixty-five years of existence on the Hill the Iota has never been inactive, although at one time during the Spanish-American war its membership was reduced to one man.

Psi Upsilon has the following chapters:

Beta Alpha Chapter
of
Beta Theta Pi

Beta Alpha Chapter of Beta Theta Pi was founded at Kenyon College in 1879 by a member of the Wooster chapter of the fraternity, James Poyntz Nelson, and Charles D. Williams, Grove D. Curtis, William T. Wright, Cassius M. Roberts, Alfred C. Dyer, Warwick M. Cogwill, Alfred C. Downs, Matthew Edmiston, and John B. Brannon. The first initiation was held at the house of Mr. Nelson, the Principal of Milnor Hall, Kenyon Military Academy.

Satisfactory progress was apparently made until the late eighties when the chapter passed through the darkest period of its existence, having at one time but a single active member. However, through the efforts of J. Edward Good, '84, Alonzo M. Snyder, '85, and Arthur H. Billman, formerly of the Wooster chapter, a group of pledges was secured which soon established the chapter again on a sound basis.

The alumni rolls number approximately 250, of which but one of the original group of founders remains, Grove Daniel Curtis of the class of '80.

The fraternity has the following active chapters:

Delta Tau Delta

In the year 1881, Chi Chapter of Delta Tau Delta was officially installed at Kenyon, with E. J. Franks, W. A. Child, C. S. Crawford, A. L. Heerlinger, A. A. Taltavall, H. H. Critchfield, as charter members. At first prosperous, the chapter passed through many vicissitudes, once dwindling to one man. Eventually prospects brightened, and the fortunes of Chi Chapter gradually improved. For forty-three years Chi was located in Old Kenyon, most of the time in East Division. After the completion of the new dormitory, the chapter settled in its new quarters in the Middle Division of Leonard Hall.

The fraternity has the following chapters:

Southern Division

Lambda Chapter of Sigma Pi

Lambda Chapter of Sigma Pi was established at Kenyon in 1916. After Middle Hanna had been thrown open to college men in 1914, the students of that division, feeling themselves drawn together by the bonds of propinquity and friendship, formed the local fraternity, Phi Gamma Phi. In a short time relations were established with Sigma Pi through the medium of Gamma Chapter of Ohio State, several of whose members had become interested in the new Kenyon local. In less than a year Phi Gamma Phi became Lambda of Sigma Pi.

From that time to the present the growth of the chapter has been normal. With the completion of Leonard Hall, it moved into South Hanna, a larger division. The relation of this, the youngest of the national fraternities on the Hill, to the older groups has been a cordial one, and the chapter can well be satisfied with the progress of its first decade.

The fraternity has the following chapters:

Alpha—Vincennes (inactive)
Beta—Indiana
Gamma—Ohio State

Zeta Alpha

Zeta Alpha dates from January, 1923, when it was organized for the express purpose of petitioning for the revival of the old Theta Charge of Theta Delta Chi. Previously a local group under the same name had existed at Kenyon during the years 1903-1910. It had an aim similar to that of the present organization, but after sending six petitions became discouraged and finally disbanded. Since then no effort has been made for the revival of the Theta Charge until two years ago.

It is no more than natural that Theta Delta Chi should be more or less unknown in Ohio, as there is no active chapter in the state. The Kenyon charge was first established in August, 1854, being the second national group on the Hill and the eighth of the fraternity. Excepting for a period of nine years at the time of the Civil War, it continued to thrive until 1896. At that time the enrollment of the college was so sadly depleted that there were six fraternities and only one hundred men. This was at the very beginning of the administration of President Peirce. To the members of the fraternity affairs did not appear very promising. They therefore thought it best voluntarily to surrender the charter until such a time as the general condition of the college would seem to warrant its return.

It is of interest to Kenyon men that the last active member of the Theta Charge, William Howard Mann, was the author of two of our most popular songs, "The Thrill" and "The Class of '99."

The 1926 Reveille

The staff this year has labored under the great difficulty of a change of editors and of advertising managers between semesters. This book is therefore the work of two all-too-brief months. If you do not like it—fine; we have illimitable good spirits and the forbearance of the necessary number of Jobs. We present the 1926 Reveille without apology—if it has any merit, apologies can add nothing thereto, and if it lacks a vital spark of reason, the less said about it the better.

The Samuel Mather Science Hall

The first ground was broken for the Samuel Mather Science Hall the latter part of March. Excavation and construction work was vigorously begun, and it is expected that the building will be ready for occupation in the summer of 1926.

The laboratory building is the gift of Mr. Henry G. Dalton of Cleveland to the departments of chemistry, physics, and biology. It will be situated on the west side of the Middle Path, directly opposite Ascension Hall. The ample dimensions of the new building will allow over twenty thousand feet of working floor space; and, when furnished with the most modern equipment, the Samuel Mather Science Hall will afford most extraordinary facilities for scientific instruction.

The 1924 Squad

"All things come to him who waits." For the first time in a number of years the college can point to a good conference standing, to a team that, at frequent intervals, displayed a brand of football equal to that shown by the conference champions. It was an uphill fight from the start, for past years have given us no high standard of athletic achievement. Our rise to the position of a contending power is a worthy compliment to the Kenyon athletic régime this year. Of the eleven men who started the opening game against Case, five were playing their first game of college football, and their record stands four games won, four games lost, and one tied. Youth and inexperience tells the story of those few unfavorable scores. It is hard to understand the loss of such a game as the one with Reserve after the decisive victory over Mt. Union, but the psychology of football scores is yet to be explored. The important fact is that the men who have done the most for Kenyon football teams, those supporters whose efforts to bring material into the college have been untiring, are satisfied with the past season. The 20 to 0 victory over the strong Mt. Union team proved the high calibre of the squad, and the defeat administered to Baldwin-Wallace was a testimonial to the fighting spirit of the Purple. The squad was trained, last fall and spring, to pull together to win football games, and this spirit remained with them to the last.

Football

It was generally felt throughout the college when Hovorka was elected captain that the choice was a very happy one, and so it proved. He was the fighting leader of a fighting team, a clean but hard player, and an inspiration to his team. He was usually outweighed but never outfought, and he did his best work when the odds were greatest against him. It is with regret that we see his football career at Kenyon come to an end.

Captain Hovorka

A definite part of the 1924 football season was Manager Thebaud. He held up his end of the work and too much commendation cannot be given him for his faithful services.

Next year's captain is "Flop" Worley, the unanimous choice of the 1924 team. No better man could fill the position, and every forecast points toward a successful season in 1925.

One of the largest crowds that ever attended a Home-coming game assembled on Benson Field, October 4 for the opening contest with Case. The first few minutes of play justified the forecast of a strong antagonist. Peters and Worley made big gains through the line and around the end, until Case, under the leadership of Captain Gribben, pulled together and took the offensive. In the second period Gribben executed a series of punts, passes, and plunges that resulted in a touchdown. From that time on the honors were even; neither team got the ball within scoring distance, and the final score was Case 6, Kenyon 0.

Captain-Elect Worley

The second game of the season found the team rounding into shape; every man who played in the Muskingum game appeared well.

Football

The first half was featured by the excellent generalship of Quarterback Barton for the Muskies, until injuries forced him to leave the game. In the third quarter Kenyon made ten points. A drop kick by Peters scored the first three points, and a moment later Worley intercepted a forward pass, putting the ball within scoring distance. Rowe gained on line plunges and Worley made the touchdown on a quarterback sneak. Final score: Kenyon 10, Muskingum 0. Kenyon distinctly outplayed the New Concord outfit in every department. The left side of the line looked especially strong, and Peters, Rowe, and Worley were the outstanding backfield men.

The next week Kenyon had little trouble defeating Capital 13 to 6. The game was played at Gambier on a warm afternoon, and neither team showed up very well, although the light little Capital team fought right up to the last minute. It was the second home game of the season, and Kenyon started like a whirlwind, Peters making a touchdown early in the game. The ball was in the enemy's territory through most of the game, and at no time was Capital in the lead. Numerous second-string men played in the second and fourth quarters, replacing varsity players needed for the game with Ohio University a week later.

The toughest game of the season was the one at Athens, October 24. Ohio University had a real football team, but Kenyon held them to a 6 to 0 score despite penalties and numerous breaks in favor of the down-state team. The only score of the game came in the second period when Gamber and Sayles took the ball for consistent gains and a touchdown. Kenyon made a desperate attempt to score in the third quarter and Worley gained considerable ground, but the punch was lacking. While the Purple played smart football throughout, the line was unable to withstand the enemy's attack.

Playing its best game of the 1924 season at Alliance, November 1, the Purple defeated Mt. Union by the decisive score of 20 to 0. Critics reviewing that game called Kenyon's play equal to that of any team in the conference. Up against one of the strongest teams in the conference, Kenyon exhibited passing and line plunging that could not be checked. The first quarter was scoreless but the turning point came in the second period when Rowe took the ball over after repeated line plunges. Worley repeated the trick. Kenyon was on the offensive straight through to the last quarter when Rybak grabbed a long pass and ran forty yards for a touchdown. Mount Union made a desperate attempt to score in the last period, but the Purple defense was strong and stopped every attack. The entire team played stellar football, and the success of the season was assured in this one game.

The next week the squad went to Cincinnati to play St. Xavier, a well coached and dangerous team that already had three games to its credit. Perfect weather favored the players, and Kenyon started in fine shape with brilliant line-plunging by Rowe and Peters. Neither team scored, however, until the third quarter, when a 70-yard run by Beatty gave St. Xavier a touchdown. A pass, Peters to VanEpps, was completed early in the fourth quarter and the score was tied. Final score: Kenyon 7, St. Xavier 7. The dark spot in the game was the injury to Fullback Rowe's shoulder, which kept him out of the game the following Saturday.

The rebuff handed Kenyon by the mediocre Western Reserve aggregation was unexpected by everyone, and it is not easily accounted for. Reserve took advantage of every Kenyon misplay and got two touchdowns and a field goal. Her offensive worked well in the last quarter, and the teamwork of the boys from Gambier was lacking in smoothness. Peters kicked a field goal early in the game making the final score 13 to 3.

Partial revenge for the defeat suffered at the hands of Case early in the year was obtained November 22 by a 29-0 win over Baldwin-Wallace, conquerors of the Scientists. It was the last home game of the season, and the team was in fine form. The aerial attack displayed by the Purple was the best shown in many moons on Benson Field, but the feature of the game was Peters' 55-yard drop kick, perhaps a season's record. "Pete" dropped three field goals in the final period. Rybak and Hovorka played exceptionally good games, and touchdowns were made by Rybak, Corey, and Peters.

A post-season game at Akron on Thanksgiving day brought Kenyon and Akron University together. Akron made a good record for the season, and the game was popular with the Rubber City fans who must have anticipated the 17 to 7 victory for the home team. Both teams were handicapped by the rain and a wet field. The Purple eleven got off to a poor start, and the Akron boys slipped over two touchdowns in the first half. In the second half Rowe and Worley got back in the line-up and each side got a touchdown. The final score was Akron 17, Kenyon 7.

The following members of the 1924 football team were awarded letters: Captain Hovorka, Captain-elect Worley, Rybak, Dickson, Norris, Overmyer, Young, VanEpps, Corey, Peters, Mulvey, and Rowe. Thebaud received a manager's "K."

Basketball

The whistle that ended the Hiram game dropped the curtain on the most successful basketball season that Kenyon has enjoyed since 1915, when the conference championship was brought to Gambier. It was predicted that this year's team would be far better than the average, but no one guessed that our boys would make such a formidable showing. It was indeed a pleasant surprise to land in fourth place, when public opinion had us slated for the cellar position, or, at best, not far from it.

The conference season opened at Gambier with a decisive victory over Muskingum. It was in this game that VanEpps commenced a career on the college court that has not passed unnoticed. The veterans, Lewis, Evans, and Stansfield formed a brilliant background for the flashy center.

After a barn-storming trip during the Christmas vacation, the team made a trip to the southern part of the state, where they easily disposed of Cincinnati and Miami. By this time they were working smoothly, and people began to sit up and take notice. Lengthy write-ups appeared in the papers, a luxury that Kenyon seldom enjoys.

The string of victories was increased when Baldwin-Wallace and Western Reserve were defeated on their home floors. The team was beginning to hit its stride, and was acquiring a reputation for being a small but speedy flock of ball hawks. Otterbein fell by the wayside with a thud as Kenyon rolled up her highest score of the season, tied only in a return game with Otterbein.

The Baldwin-Wallace game here was another easy win, and was watched by the alumni who had returned to the hill for initiation. The celebrated Kenyon spirit returned with the old grads, and they were clamorous in their enthusiasm at the stellar work of VanEpps, Lewis, and Evans.

Then came the greatest disappointment of the year. On an off night Kenyon went down to defeat at the hands of Mt. Union, the conference champions of last year and, eventually, of the 1924-25 season.

Basketball

By a single point the trick was turned. The battle was close from start to finish; neither team was able to gain a decisive lead. Kenyon had her chance to win on fouls, but failed. Only six out of fifteen free throws registered.

Defeat after such a splendid record was a bitter pill to swallow, but in the next game, played against Miami, the team more than doubled their opponent's score. The recovery was short-lived, however, for Coach Love's protégés promptly succumbed again for their only other defeat of the season—a crushing one—before the Wittenburg aggregation. From this time on the Purple suffered no further casualties.

The Ohio U. game was a brilliant game from the Kenyon standpoint. After lagging behind by fifteen points until the very end of the game, our basketeers smashed through to a victory by one point just as the whistle blew. This put Ohio U. definitely out of the running so far as championship was concerned. The following week she came to Gambier thirsting for revenge, and almost found it. The game was practically a repetition of the previous one, with the roles reversed; this time Ohio made the final spurt, only to fall one point short of tying the score. This was probably the most thrilling game of the season—it was certainly Kenyon's most lucky win.

Judged in the light of the preceding games, the last three were rather uninteresting. Muskingum came within two points of a tie, but did not once look really formidable. Corey, Lewis, and Peters were the high scorers against Otterbein, when Kenyon again amassed a total of fifty-four points, and in the Hiram game VanEpps made twenty-two of the forty-five Purple points.

The astonishing success of the Kenyon team this year can be traced in large measure to the coaching of Wendell Love. He enjoyed the entire confidence of the players, and they worked as hard for him as they did for Kenyon College. The college men may well congratulate themselves on having the services of so able a mentor as Coach Love.

THE PLAYERS

Captain "Burt" Lewis amply vindicated his teammates' choice by his excellent and courageous leadership. In the most seemingly hopeless situations he never gave up, and he well deserves to be remembered as "the fighting captain." His long shots pulled the team out of more than one bad hole, and the accuracy of his free throws always helped bolster them up. At all times Lewis' guarding was good and his playing aggressive.

Capt. Lewis

Clayton VanEpps, the tall center, did some of the most brilliant work of the year in Ohio Conference basketball. He won for himself the honor of being high-point man in the conference, and received a berth as forward on the imaginary All-Ohio team. VanEpps is only a sophomore, and has therefore two more years with the Purple. He forms a nucleus around which a good team should be built next year.

"Bud" Evans, Captain of last year's team, was one of the fastest guards that Kenyon has boasted in some seasons. Very agile, he proved himself almost insuperable in the matter of snatching balls off the back-board. Evans and Lewis formed probably the best guarding combination ever seen in a Kenyon team.

Teams that relied on VanEpps to do all the Kenyon shooting received a big surprise when Alvin Corey got his hands on the ball. Corey was fast, clean, and a splendid shot. Throughout the season his name was listed high among conference scorers, and after the last game he led all the Kenyon players with the exception of the lanky center.

Basketball

"Eddie" Stansfield and Harold Peters alternated in the remaining position at forward. Stansfield is a veteran basketball player on Kenyon teams, while Peters is only a sophomore; consequently next year the job should fall entirely to Peters with his alternate gone. Trouble with his foot kept "Eddie" out of a number of games, but never interfered with the high caliber of his work when he did play. Peters often held a position at guard, where he was very formidable.

The substitutes were not used to any great extent, but when their services were required, they showed themselves capable of meeting the emergency. G. Evans, Furniss, Lyman, Gregg, and French should prove valuable men on next year's team.

Herbert Rusk was a reliable and efficient manager and deserves a full share of credit for the excellent showing of the team. George Shaffer is the manager-elect for the coming season.

Basketball letters were awarded to Lewis, E. Evans, VanEpps, Corey, Stansfield, Peters, and Manager Rusk, with attractive light sweaters. Corns received a letter, and G. Evans a sweater. Freshman numerals went to Muir, Dempsey, Johnson, Puffenberger, Newhouse, F. Smith, Humphreys, and Bissell.

Intra-Mural Basketball

The Intra-Mural Basketball contest of 1925 aroused a great deal of interest throughout the college, and enthusiasm ran high in the final game.

A new system was instituted this season which enabled all the games to be played off in a reasonably short time and did away with the long tourneys of former years. A committee in which each division was represented, under the direction of Mr. Wiper, took charge of the contest. The eight groups were divided into two leagues, the winners of each to meet in the championship game. With this arrangement, it was impossible at the start to foretell the victor. Alpha Delta Phi and Delta Tau Delta clashed in the finals. To the very end of the game the outcome was uncertain. By a supreme effort the Alpha Delts scored just as the whistle blew, and the victory went to East Wing by one point.

Standings in the two leagues were as follows:

|---|---|
| Alpha Delta Phi | Delta Tau Delta |
| Delta Kappa Epsilon | Non-Fraternity |
| Beta Theta Pi | Zeta Alpha |
| Sigma Pi | Psi Upsilon |

Baseball

The baseball season of 1924 was one that can be considered neither as a notable success nor as a dismal failure. The games were about evenly divided between the won and lost columns, but the one game at which Kenyon had a record crowd, the final game of the season, played with Capitol on Benson Field at the time of the Centennial exercises, was lost by a margin of more than a score of runs. It was that game of baseball that caused Lord Kenyon to return to his native land with the opinion that cricket was a much more interesting and exciting national pastime than baseball.

Baseball

Prospects for the season of 1925 are of a brighter nature. With the veterans Pfleger and Mulvey for batteries, and two promising recruit pitchers in Peters and Stewart, the Purple and White should meet with little difficulty in amassing a large number of victories before the end of the school year. The infield is composed almost entirely of last year's letter men, and although the outfield boasts only one player who has worn the Kenyon uniform on the diamond before, we do not fear much trouble on that account.

The manager for the past year was Charles Greaves, and this year the duty falls to D. Maxfield Dowell.

The Team

Captain Russell—Pitcher. Throughout the season Larry pitched a pretty consistently good game, and was an encouraging captain to his team-mates.

Mulvey—Catcher. Pat was the other half of the battery for the rather unfortunate season, and deserves real credit for his work. When Kenyon was losing, Pat was at his best—in wit.

Lewis—First Baseman. Burt was steady, and grew steadier from the constant practice he got in 1924.

Messinger—Second Baseman. Outside playing a good game, Em had the reputation of being the luckiest man on the team.

Phleger—Shortstop. Bob kept his territory well-covered, and frequently pitched, always showing good form and the brightest possibilities for the 1925 season.

E. Evans—Third Baseman. Bud is probably the most energetic and agile man the college has seen in some time. As a third baseman he could be relied on every time.

Alexander—Left Field. Wally was exceptionally good at chasing balls, and there were plenty of them. He was a good batter as well.

Gibbs—Center Field. Ted was the most consistent batter of the nine. Such feeble scores as Kenyon did manage to scrape together, he helped get.

G. Evans—Right Field. Next to Messinger, Gale certainly held the distinction of being the luckiest man on the Kenyon outfit. He almost invariably got a hit.

Tennis

Inclement weather proved to be the greatest obstacle of the 1924 tennis team. Of the thirteen matches scheduled, eight were called off because of rain. Still, the squad worked earnestly whenever the weather man permitted, and was a credit to the College. Their record was not quite so good as that of the previous year on account of the fewer number of games played, but can still be pointed to with pride. George Benolken deserves considerable credit for the excellent way he managed the team.

Tennis

The squad was composed of Captain Sturges, Wright, Pfleger, and Thorne. Captain Sturges was the mainstay of the team, and was ably sustained by Wright. The quartet met and defeated Capitol both at Gambier and at Columbus; Wesleyan succumbed to Kenyon at Delaware; and the College team made a clean sweep of the matches with Muskingum on our home courts. The strong Ohio State players won three singles from their tiny rivals, but Kenyon defeated them in both doubles.

Wright has been elected Captain for the 1925 season and, with the experience that he gained last year, should be able to lead the team very capably. Both Thorne and Pfleger are again eligible, and the prospects are very bright for this year.

Track

Capt. Rybak—Hurdles, dashes, high jump, broad jump, relay.

G. T. Brown—Dashes, hurdles, relay.

Corey—Dashes, javelin, shot-put, relay.

Furniss—Javelin.

Gassman—Distance, relay.

Lyman—High jump, pole vault.

Ralston—Distance.

Reed—Discus, dashes, shot-put, relay.

Salvin—Shot-put, discus.

F. A. Wade—Manager.

Track

The Kenyon Track team of the 1924 season made a rather successful record for itself. Dual meets were held with Otterbein and Muskingum. The team was entered in the Ohio Conference Meet, and a medley relay team was sent to the Ohio Relays at Columbus. The team was very well balanced, as the majority of the men won points in the events in which they competed. Especial praise is due Captain Rybak, who by his winning ability and qualities of leadership proved himself fully worthy of re-election as Captain for the 1925 season.

In Otterbein, Kenyon found a foe of strength superior to hers, and lost the meet by a large score. Our high-point man was Rybak, who took four first places. Furniss and Reed won in their events.

In the meet with Muskingum, Kenyon completely outclassed her opponents, and secured first place in all but two events. The final score was Kenyon 81, Muskingum 50.

At the Ohio Relays the Kenyon quartet, composed of Capt. Rybak, Corey, Brown, and Reed gained second place against a number of very good teams.

The best effort of the season was the showing of the team at the Ohio Conference Meet. Reed won the discus throw, and Rybak came second in the 220-yard low hurdles and fourth in the 120-yard high hurdles. Kenyon scored, in all, ten points for sixth place, an enviable position considering the calibre of her competitors.

Letters were awarded Captain Rybak, Brown, Furniss, Gassman, Lyman and Reed. Wade received a manager's "K."

Centennial
THE REVEILLE - 1926

The Kenyon Centennial

From the 14th to the 17th of June, 1924, Kenyon College formally celebrated the hundredth anniversary of her founding. The College was incorporated December 29, 1824, the original funds having been secured in England by the Right Reverend Philander Chase. Lords Kenyon and Gambier were the chief donors. The first students were received at Bishop Chase's home near Worthington, Ohio, and it was not until 1826 that two quarter-sections of land were secured in Knox County for the permanent site.

Since that time, the college has increased in prosperity continually, and the Centennial marked the close of a most successful century. In arranging the various activities for the Centennial program, the committee in charge of affairs made every possible attempt to have a suitable program. All of the alumni were strongly urged to be back on the Hill, and a large number responded to the call. Never before had Gambier so teemed with life. The campus lay bright and green under an unbroken layer of cars, ranging all the way from Fords to Rolls-Royces, the latter of course being in the preponderance, while "Happy" Allen sat all day long on the road across the Path just outside the Gates to keep those cars which could not get on the campus from crossing. Even a few Pullmans were stationed along the siding near the station to help accommodate the overflow of Centennial guests.

Besides the alumni, President Peirce invited many men of national importance, including Atlee Pomerene, former United States Senator from Ohio, and Senator Pepper from Pennsylvania. Lord Kenyon, the grandson of the Lord of Bishop Chase's time, came all the way from England to attend the exercise. He was accompanied by a party of friends and relatives interested in the United States and in Kenyon College.

The Centennial

Upon arriving at the station on Saturday noon, June the 14th, Lord Kenyon's party was met by a reception committee consisting of the entire body of undergraduates and many alumni. The appearance of a Lord Kenyon in Gambier for the first time was a great event in the history of the college, and a fitting demonstration accompanied it.

The Lord and his party were taken to Harcourt Place, where they were entertained as the guests of Francis T. A. Junkin of Chicago. Samuel Mather of Cleveland, and other members of the Board of Trustees also resided at Harcourt for the few days of the Centennial.

Promptly at 6:30 on Saturday evening, the firing of salute bombs called for the formation of the Alumni Parade on the quadrangle in front of Old Kenyon. The Parade was headed by the Grand Marshal, E. M. Anderson of the class of '14, and the Thayer Military Band of Canton. The order was by classes, each designated by a standard bearing its numerals, which ranged all the way from '60 to '27. James N. Gamble of '54 was assigned to the reviewing stand at Rosse Hall. Before starting, colored caps, arm-bands, and noise-makers were distributed, and it was a joyous, rollicking procession, conveying a lighter but no less sincere tribute of love and affection to their Alma Mater, that marched up the Path to Bexley and counter-marched to pass before the stand.

From the steps of Rosse Hall the Parade was reviewed by the Honorary Grand Marshal, William P. Elliot of '70 and his guests, Lord Kenyon, Colonel Kenyon-Slaney, James N. Gamble of '54, and Matthew Trimble of '60. A group of guests of the College and of the President were also present in the reviewing stand. As the formation grouped in front of the stand, the Glee Club sang "Lord Kenyon Comes." After this everyone joined in the singing of "Philander Chase" and "The Thrill."

The Centennial

The Centennial Pageant was first presented on Saturday night, and a second time on Tuesday. Many factors working admirably together made the Kenyon Pageant a truly great presentation. The highest credit must go to Mr. Joseph Lindon Smith, the Pageant Master, who capably managed the Pageant in all its phases. The engagement of the Cleveland Festival Orchestra, made possible through the suggestion and generous donation of Mr. A. A. Augustus of Cleveland, sealed the success of the pantomime.

A heavy burden was assumed by the Reverend Mr. Mapes, who took the part of Bishop Chase. No one will forget his interpretation of that heroic character. The work of Mrs. Robert H. Bishop as Alma Mater, of Mrs. F. N. Sinks as Countess of Rosse, and of Mrs. Harry C. Devlin as Hannah Moore was equally commendable. The music of the Pageant deserves special mention. The excellent chorus of the group of Gambier men and women under the direction of Mrs. R. B. Allen was a great aid toward making the whole Pageant impressive. To the Reverend L. E. Daniels goes much credit also for his invaluable work in making the selections for all incidental music.

The Pageant opened with a scene showing the Indians occupying the lands on which Kenyon is now situated, with the coming of the Moravian settlers who dispossessed the Redmen. The chorus assisted in this scene. The next scene portrayed Bishop Chase at the bedside of his sick son, when he first conceived the idea of the College on the Hill. The third tableau was laid in England, with the Bishop in quest of funds. Lord Kenyon, Lord Gambier, Lord Bexley, Hannah Moore, and others who donated so generously to the cause were represented at a tea given by George Wharton Marriot in honor of the visiting Bishop.

The next scene depicted the selection of the site for the Bishop's college, and the first religious service held upon the Hill. There followed the laying of the corner-stone of Old Kenyon, with the Faculty, Bishop Chase and Doctor Sparrow welcoming the first students. Then Alma Mater appeared to greet her first son.

The close of the scene is marked by Bishop Chase's quarrel with his Faculty and his subsequent resignation. The sixth and seventh scenes reviewed the work of the succeeding Presidents. The final scene showed Alma Mater calling for the names of her more illustrious sons. Names of Kenyon men were placed on the walls, and soldiers of the Civil and Great Wars appeared to be smiled upon by their Loving Mother. The President, Faculty, Trustees, Class Presidents, and Officers of the Assembly came forward, and the Pageant ended with the singing of "The Thrill."

Immediately after the Pageant, a salvo of bombs directed the assemblage to the front of Old Kenyon. At the stroke of the College bell, the darkened windows flashed out in illuminated pictures. These portrayed emblems and symbols of the various fraternities, student organizations and classes, and portraits of Lord Kenyon, President Peirce, and members of the Faculty.

To the older alumni, the illumination recalled an observance of former years, when it was enacted annually on the observance of Washington's Birthday, and was followed by orations delivered in Rosse Hall by representatives of the Philomathesian and Nu Pi Kappa Societies.

The Ordination Service took place on Sunday morning, June 15. Bishop Gailor of Tennessee preached the sermon. The Reverend Mr. Gross, of Norwalk, Ohio, gave the preface to the ordinal, and Bishop DuMoulin read the litany. Bishop Leonard was the celebrant at Holy Communion assisted by Bishop Harris, of Marquette. Lane Wickham Barton and Roy Judson Duer were ordained.

At half-past seven of the same day, the annual Baccalaureate Service was held in the Church of the Holy Spirit. President Peirce presented to Mrs. Warren G. Harding the degree of Doctor of Laws which her late husband was to have received. Dr. Peirce preached an eloquent and effective baccalaureate sermon, in which he gave a short history of the founding of Kenyon College and of the great work it has accomplished down to the present day. In a few well-chosen words of advice to the graduating class he asked them to carry on the work of the Christian Church, so that they might attain the fullest stature of manhood. The service was conducted by Bishop Burton of Lexington, assisted by Bishops Harris of Marquette, Stevens of Los Angeles, Vincent of Southern Ohio, and Leonard of Ohio.

The service for the dedication of Leonard Hall was held in the college chapel at nine o'clock on June 16. Morning prayer was said by Bishop Leonard, assisted by Bishops Burton and Vincent. After the service the procession walked down the Path to the new building, on whose middle entrance the following tablet is placed:

As a tribute of love and devotion to
WILLIAM ANDREW LEONARD
Fourth Bishop of Ohio
and in reverent memory of his wife
SARAH LOUISA LEONARD
this building is erected by some who have been inspired to nobler living
by their life and example.

The Ninety-Sixth Commencement followed the dedication of Leonard Hall on Monday morning, in Rosse. Invocation was said by Bishop Burton. Alexander McGill Duff, Jr., then delivered the address of the morning as the First Honor Man of the graduating class; the Hon. Albert Douglas followed with the address for the Alumni, and the Reverend Thomas Jenkins, as the representative of Bexley. After the official recognition of the members of the Kenyon family by President Peirce, Senator Pepper delivered a short speech, and the presentation of degrees in course ensued. A few official announcements regarding the college were made, and the meeting adjourned with the benediction pronounced by Bishop Leonard.

The Centennial

The Alumni Luncheon was held in a tent near the College Commons, and was attended by about six hundred alumni. Mr. Arthur L. Brown, of '06, President of the Alumni Association, presided. President Brown made a speech of welcome to the class of 1924, which was answered by Hale Sturges, Jr., a member of the class. Then the President introduced the Honorable T. P. Linn of '72, the toastmaster of the occasion.

Mr. Linn took up the duties of toastmaster, and, after expressing his appreciation for the honor conferred upon him, called upon Bishop Gailor to respond. Bishop Gailor delivered a very appropriate speech, favoring colleges which graduated men of quality, rather than men in quantity. Before the Toastmaster could call upon the Honorable George Wharton Pepper, the alumni were on their feet shouting for him. Senator Pepper gave a short and very entertaining speech complimentary to Kenyon and to Kenyon men.

After the applause had subsided, Toastmaster Linn asked those present to rise and drink a toast to King George and to President Coolidge. Lord Kenyon answered the toast in a speech consisting mostly of advice which he wished to pass on to the future generations of Kenyon College.

Next the Toastmaster called upon Mr. James N. Gamble of '54. The Senior Alumnus told of some of the pranks that the students engaged in when he was in college. He also mentioned some of the changes that had taken place since that time, and concluded his remarks by expressing his appreciation of being able to meet so many Kenyon men.

Toastmaster Linn then read a telegram which he had just received from the alumni of Hobart, expressing their sincere congratulations to the Kenyon alumni on the one hundredth anniversary of Kenyon College. Senator Atlee Pomerene was called upon next. His subject was the need for courage in business affairs, and he quite won the hearts of his listeners. James G. Stewart of '02, the last speaker, gave a very effective talk on what college should do for the student, mentioning the ideals that a young man should form while in college. The luncheon was concluded by a benediction pronounced by Bishop Leonard.

Immediately afterwards, the Alumni Association held its meeting in the tent. Reports of the various committees were read, and officers for the new year were elected. Matthew F. Maury, of '04, was elected President of the General Association.

Over six hundred people attended the President's Reception at Cromwell Cottage on Monday afternoon from 4 to 6, and the attendance at the fraternity and non-fraternity banquets that evening broke all previous records. The College Park was lighted with Japanese lanterns and a program was rendered from the porch of Rosse Hall by the Cleveland Festival Orchestra under the direction of Walter Logan, Conductor.

After the concert, a historical lecture illustrated with lantern slides was given by the Reverend Dr. Jacob Streibert of Bexley Hall. The lecture was well attended, and proved very interesting.

On Tuesday morning, two bronze tablets were dedicated on the Park gates. One was to David Bates Douglas who laid out the Park while President of the College; the other was to George Wharton Marriott, an early friend of the College and for whom the Park is named. This service was solemnized by a service in the chapel and a procession of the Faculty, Trustees, Bishops, and Lord Kenyon.

The Centennial

Lambda Chapter of Delta Kappa Epsilon commemorated the building of the first Fraternity Lodge in America by unveiling a bronze tablet on the spot of the original lodge. This was done on Tuesday afternoon. An address of presentation was made by Roger Alling of '24, and the tablet was received by Lloyd Snook of '17, for the Alumni. A large number of members of the Fraternity were present, prominent among them being James N. Gamble of '54, and William P. Elliot of '70.

Following the dedication of the tablets, the Centennial Exercises were held in Rosse Hall. Bishop Leonard was the chairman of activities, and speeches were delivered in turn by Lord Kenyon, Professor Herbert D. Foster of Dartmouth College, the Right Reverend Dr. Manning, Bishop of New York, Frederick C. Morehouse, and Judge Joseph Bullington. There followed the presentation of honorary degrees by the President of the College, and the introduction of Miss Emma Chase, the Bishop's granddaughter.

The Centennial Dinner was served in the great tent near the College Commons. About six hundred guests attended the dinner which was open to ladies. The Toastmaster was Colonel Francis T. A. Junkin, '84. He announced that he had received telegrams from Bishop Chase's granddaughters and from C. S. Reifsnider in Tokyo, bearing their good wishes. Lord Kenyon was called upon for another speech, but he declined in favor of Governor Donahey, who very ably expressed the relation between the State and Kenyon College.

Senator Atlee Pomerene followed with a few remarks on the relation between England and America, which were very well received. At this time, the Toastmaster called upon Samuel Mather and he read a letter left by H. G. Dalton before he left for Cleveland.

The Centennial

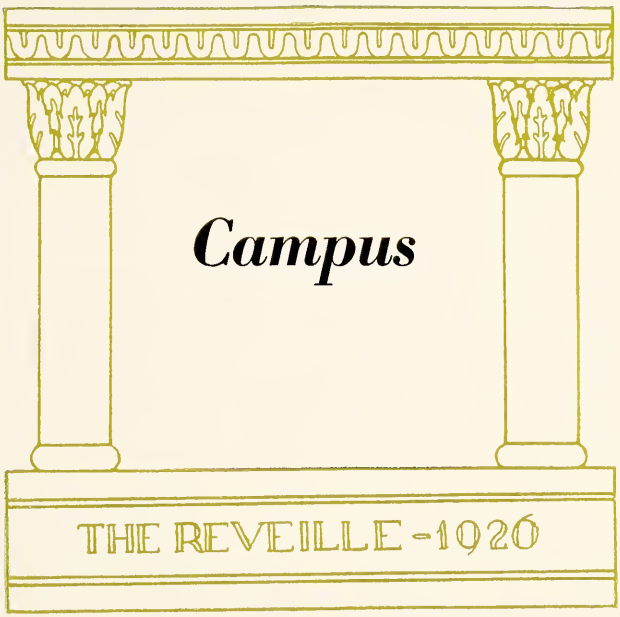
Mr. Dalton's letter announced that a new science hall should be started which was to be his gift to the College, to be named the Samuel Mather Science Hall. This announcement was received with great cheers.

A long address by Senator Willis followed, and then shorter ones by Professor Merrill of the University of Chicago, Bishop Manning, Colonel Kenyon Slaney, President Bartlett of Hobart College, and William G. Mather. The meeting adjourned after a song by the Glee Club. During the whole meeting there was a remarkable degree of feeling apparent, among those present, for our Alma Mater which has seldom before been felt but which we may hope will appear frequently in the future.

Tuesday at 10:00 P. M. the activities of Centennial Week closed with the Annual Reception given by the Juniors for the graduating class. It was attended chiefly by the students, but a large number of alumni were present as well. The success of the Dance was in keeping with the success of the entire Centennial.

The members of the Board of Trustees, the Faculty, the Student Body, and the Alumni Association received many notes of congratulation from officials of various colleges throughout the United States. A letter was received from Amherst College which highly commended Kenyon on its remarkable work for the first hundred years, and it also wished our Alma Mater every hope for future prosperity. Dr. Kenneth C. M. Sills of Bowdoin College, Brunswick, Maine, sent his kindest felicitations to President Peirce, congratulating him upon the fame that Kenyon had earned by its Centennial celebration. Similar messages were received from Hobart College, Trinity College, Ohio State University, Wooster College, Sewanee University, Case School, and Dartmouth College, the Alma Mater of Philander Chase.

"ONCE THERE WERE TWO TRAVELLING SALESMEN ——"

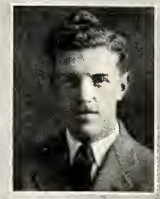


Campus
THE REVEILLE-1926

When one looks at James Chapman Broder, his first reaction is that he is looking at someone. Tall, shambling of gait, slightly-stooped shoulders over which is smoothed Brooks Brothers' best blazer, head slightly inclined forward, pince-nez in use or, conspicuously, not in use, Steve is the radical extraordinary; out-Menckening Mencken in the Menckenonic diction, he satirizes mercilessly everything commonplace, and execrates existing student government. Assets outside wit? Well, yes, he clogs exquisitely, is a dog at a catch, and is credited with knowing something about the lost art of brewing.

Now William Edward Cless strikes one rather differently. There is a look of intelligence in his eye. A quiet and reserved exterior, ruffled only slightly by a constant air of nervous tension, marks him as a man of literary learning. Just how far this seeming tendency takes him beyond enrolling in numerous and sundry English courses might be difficult to ascertain at this juncture; certain it is, at least, that it has led him through the mazes of Kappa Beta Phi. He wears white knickers and white golf sox, and handles a cigarette as if it were all burning at once—by these marks shall ye know him!

Here we have a man renowned—or shall we say, notorious?—for his diplomacy. Theodore Craig Diller would never think of trying to sell a freshman the ivy outside his window, but it takes no great power of imagination to visualize him talking H. Ford into driving one of his own cars. On those rare occasions when Ted has been suspected of expressing his disapproval of organized government as manifest in constitutional amendment, he has become congenial even to the point of lapsing into confidential French. He is at one and the same time the college authority on matters pertaining to Holy Scripture and to social etiquette.



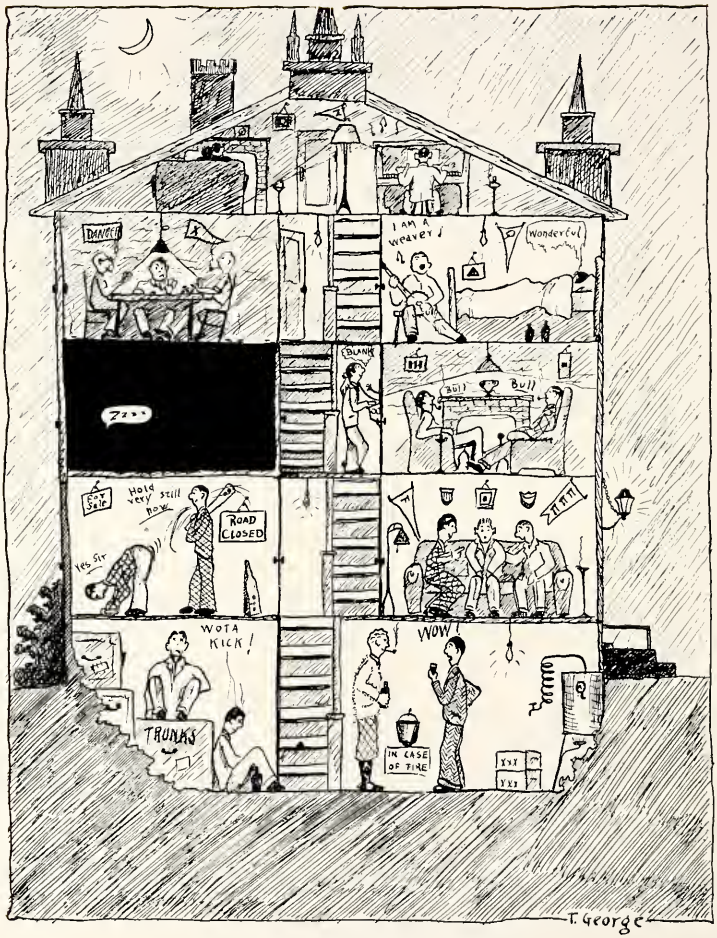
Stanley Meredith Fullwood's mustache is one of the most familiar sights in Gambier. Whether one goes to class meeting for the lugubrious purpose of discussing preparations for a dance, to Assembly for the very boring task of witnessing student government functioning, or to the Treasurer's office with the extremely sober intention of buying a book, one finds Stan inevitably the secretary, and always in his whimsically serious state of mind. He smokes any kind of a cigarette—has no preference as to brand, and, consequently, cannot justify himself in the purchase of any particular kind. He comes from Wymore, Nebraska, out in "the great open spaces, etc., etc."

Walter James Rainie as Harcourt fusser is an indispensable adjunct to the college; someone must keep the fair maydes in trim, or trimmings. Perhaps his hold over their hearts can be traced to the fact that anyone not colorblind can see Walt coming a quarter of a mile down the path. He enjoys the unique distinction of having been Hop chairman at the time of the memorable raid, although history fails to record whether or not he was among those searched. A certain adroitness of performance on the treble of the Common's piano is a distinctly Rainie accomplishment.

Perry Edward Trinkner does the same work as Walt Rainie, only his activities are restricted more to the Mount Vernon territory. It is a mooted question whether Perry is more alluring to the feminine eye attired in his regular dress or in his more form-fitting tennis apparel; he himself refrains from assisting in the solution of this all important problem by maintaining a discreet silence. As a matter of fact, if it were not for the mischievous twinkle in his eye, Perry might be called sedate.

The average transient traveler through Gambier —and we must here state that we could hardly consider him average were he other than transient—would hardly be apt to see Charles Ludwig Tuller, and he would go away from the Hill disappointed. The reason is simply that Charles Ludwig Tuller would probably be taking his afternoon nap. For every man of the world must have his full quota of repose, and why not Comrade Tuller? Eventually, he will rise, go out, and demonstrate the game of horseshoes as it should be played; but the eager spectator must wait for Charles at his own time—he's a tyrant in his realm!

Reginald Douglas Wells admits that he likes variety in women. So the occult reason for his joining the choir is now apparent—he did it for the trips,—and perhaps too for the purpose of trying to build up his voice, which is even now scarcely audible. Reg manages the sheik-end to a well known clothing concern,—his father's of course—and if you decide sometime to wear something, just let him know two months ahead of time, and he will see that you go about decently clad.



It's just the same old moon a-shining—

These Kenyon Lads!

John Philip Sousa rose higher and higher into the air. He changed course, faltered, hit the limb of a tree, and tumbled end over end to the ground. Paul Whiteman, after describing a parabola that would meet even the rigid requirements of the Math Department, crashed against a stone wall and broke into a thousand pieces. I myself was clipped on the chin by what was, I have since learned, no less than the "Sextette From Lucia." What's more, I have it on good authority that the amiable Marian Harris was responsible for inflicting corporal punishment on two separate individuals.

This article is not, as might be supposed by the lay-reader, intended to be either insane or cryptic, although it may be both. It has to do with a custom at Kenyon that has grown almost to the magnitude of a tradition. The tradition is fully as sane as any of the rest we have, but not so far-reaching as some. Now, that something must be done with the old worn-out victrola records that accumulate in any parlor during the winter months is readily understood. But what? They have no resale value; no one knows how to melt them up or what to do with them even if he could melt them; to throw them callously away would amount, in the eyes of the more thrifty students, almost to an offense toward God: what, then, shall be done with them? This perplexing enigma, I contend, has been very neatly disposed of here at Kenyon. The solution has, moreover, the added value of satisfying a very natural human passion, the destructive passion, which, unless I miss my guess, will shortly be put under constitutional ban.

Every spring there is a night in which the student body as a unit returns—if it be granted that a retrogression actually takes place—to the intellectual level of the kindergarten. It may be, as poets hold, that the sap is mounting in the wood, and spring has got into the blood. At any rate, a "record fight" invariably occurs upon that night. For the space of about three-quarters of an hour the sun is overcast, and darkness wavers unsteadily over the campus as the air is filled with sailing disks. Occasionally a bright spot appears in the gloom as a Red Seal whirls by on its road to inevitable destruction. All the old petted-to-death numbers and, to the consternation of the more rational students, most of the new ones end their cacophonous careers with a metallic crash; a reasonable number of students get their heads broken; Mr. White's cohorts on emerging from their trenches and tunnels are confronted with a considerable amount of work ready at hand, but never done; the budding scholars have material wherewith to spin the yarns that so entertain the incredulous listeners of the dreamy summer evenings; and the hard-rubber supply of the world—at least that part which is in usable form—is diminished by an amount to make all unthinking conservators start in despair.

But let us, as men about to step forth into the serious and soul-trying business of the world, encourage this noble tradition, that in our years of senile dotage we may find a spring of the Fountain of Youth in the recollection of the record folly of our college days.

The Editor wishes to express his appreciation to—

His Sophomore assistants, lacking whom this book would be without data and, therefore, wholly unintelligible;

Maynard C. Weller for his inexhaustible artistic ideas and constant endeavors to make the book interesting;

Robert L. Thebaud for the border, title page, and Ex Libris;

John H. Stewart for the titles cartoons;

Charles Ramsey Findlater for the sub-title and the small border;

Tom J. George for the illustrative cartoons;

W. D. Braddock who, through the closest contact in the compilation of the book, has come thoroughly to understand the idiosyncrasies of the Editor;

H. J. Hitchcock, the Business Manager, and E. P. Lawrence, who with the Editor will have to brave the curses of the Class of '26 if this book founders;

Broder and Sutherland for some good eleventh hour work;

Lyman, Braddock, Lawrence, Harter, and Weller for whacking typewriters all night on a certain memorable occasion when the Editor conceived the wild notion that the book had to go to press the next day;

The many interested students who from time to time by their irritating questions have reminded the Editor that a Reveille was supposed to come out sometime before July 4th;

The Pontiac Engraving Company and Mr. H. E. Votaw for their encouragement and advice when both were needed.

Freshman Canes

Hundreds of Kenyon Alumni look back with fond memories to the days when as Freshmen they strolled the campus with their class canes.

Our sincerest wish is that Kenyon cane days will be enjoyed for many years to come. Of course we take pride in the fact that we have been selected by many Kenyon classes as official cane makers.

CRANE BEAUTY IN THE OPEN; CRANE QUALITY IN ALL HIDDEN FITTINGS

Development of compact and graceful new fixtures easily adapted to limited spaces and fixed floor plans, has brought the comfort and convenience of an "extra bathroom" into countless American homes.

The Crane Nova lavatory pictured above may be had in three sizes, to fit various requirements—21 x 24, 22 x 27 and 24 x 30. Of cream-white vitreous china, in color it matches the lustrous enamel of the Tarnia bath, set here in the soft green vitrolite tiles lining the walls. The Tarnia bath is supplied in three lengths also—5, 5½ and 6 feet. The Corsyn chair seat and back are of cane.

Crane plumbing and heating fixtures are sold through contractors only, in a wide variety of styles at prices within reach of all. Let us send you "The New Art of Fine Bathrooms."
